A Salute to the Taste of the Triangle

Twenty years ago the first Taste of the Triangle was held in the Bank of America lobby where guests were served treats from a few local restaurants, such as Lorna's and The French Gourmet. The event was so successful, EdUCate! board members knew it needed to get bigger.

Board members recruited Rashmi Bhargava and Louise Edwards, the very first Co-Chairs of Taste. Two instrumental women who, with no budget, visited, patronized, and begged the local restaurants to support Taste. They built Taste into EdUCate!'s signature event, where it still stands strong. Today, Taste includes a VIP reception, music, dancing, auctions, and lots of tastes from excellent restaurants.

How did EdUCate! come about in the first place? Deb Horwitz was at a Spreckels Discretionary Funds Committee Meeting and found it frustrating to simply write a check to help fund a certain item. It was then she decided that something had to be done to help provide additional support to our local schools. Soon thereafter, a meeting was held in her home with various community members to gauge interest in a new community foundation. Deb recalls that all the PTA groups were worried that they would be selling gift wrap.

But interest was building, and soon Mary Kay Hewitt came aboard to help incorporate the foundation as a non-profit, since she had just done so with Grad Nite. Linda Katz helped with other background work, and Marcia Brumitt helped with developing the organizational structure. Marcia was recruited by Mary Kay during the Spreckels Halloween Costume Parade. Sandy Arkin ran strategic planning. Ann Wille and Carol May helped with marketing. Mary Kay also roped in Mary Carey. Miyo Reff was in charge of allocations who, when they were sitting around deciding on a shorter and more memorable brand than the name University City Foundation for Public Schools, noticed that there was a "UC" in educate, and bingo, EdUCate! was born.

A year or two later, one morning at Patricia Newman's house, the group was trying to come up with a fundraising idea and knew they couldn't leave that day without a viable idea. Eventually, Deb said that "everybody likes to eat, food is festive and brings people together and there's this new idea of 'Taste' events, and could we possibly try a local version? ... maybe with just desserts?" What would they call it? Deb, ever the English teacher seeking a snappy title, said "Taste of the Triangle."

Here we are today, our 20th Anniversary of Taste of the Triangle at the intimate setting of the UCSD Faculty Club. An appropriate venue for an event that fundraises to support public education. We honor those past EdUCate! board members who set the groundwork for such a community-oriented group. Even today, lifelong EdUCate! advocates Mary Kay Hewitt and Mary Carey have been instrumental in helping organize this evening's celebration. What visionaries these men and women were and are, understanding that the future of our society lays in the education of our youth.

AUCTION PROTOCOL

Welcome to the Taste of the Triangle Auction, where all items have been donated and all proceeds benefit the students of the five public schools of University City. To participate in the Silent Auction, use the bidder number assigned when you checked in this evening. There will be one bidder number per couple or family. This number is on your name tag and also on the back of your program.

The Silent Auction procedures are as follows:

- There will be staggered closing times, with bidding on Row 1 Silent Auction Tables closing at 8:40 PM, Row 2 Silent Auction Tables closing at 8:50 PM, and Row 3 Silent Auction Tables closing at 9:00 PM.
- We will also have guaranteed “Buy It Now” prices shown for most baskets. If you bid this amount, you are guaranteed to get this basket and no overbids are allowed.
- Bids are maintained on bid sheets for each offered item. To place a bid, put your bidder number on the line next to the amount of your bid. Note that each item has a minimum starting bid and a minimum amount each additional bid can be increased. Any bid that does not comply with the minimum bid requirements will be disallowed.
- By entering a bid you commit to purchase the item tonight, and take it with you, if your bid is the highest and a “Buy It Now” has not been bid.
- An announcement will be made shortly before bidding closes on each of the three rows. You will then have a last opportunity to submit your final bid(s).

- The official closing of each row of the Auction occurs when the auctioneer declares it closed. The bid sheets for each item will be removed and bids tallied. Winning bidder numbers will be posted beginning at approximately 9 PM at the Checkout tables in the front hall, where payment can be made by cash, check, VISA, AMEX, or MasterCard.

If you bid on any items, please be sure to stop by the Checkout tables to see if you were the winning bidder. If there are any problems or questions regarding the Auction, please contact our Auction chairperson Jemma Samala at jemmasamala@gmail.com. Some restrictions apply to certain auction items; please read carefully the description of any item you are interested in bidding on.

AUCTION DESCRIPTIONS

1. A Taste of Breakfast:

You know what they say—breakfast is the most important meal of the day! So start off by bidding on an assortment of breakfast dining establishments, and you'll be guaranteed to get the auction off to the right start. Go to the long time favorite Broken Yolk, where they have huevos. Then take your leisure to dine at The Cottage ($50) in La Jolla, a popular beach cottage location. For those lazy weekends in bed, choose from three delicious Butter Braids (flavor of your choice) courtesy of Peter and Sheri Knobloch.

Value: $115

2. A Hot Taste for the Firehouse:

Firemen are known for their culinary skills, and the crew at University City's Fire Station 35 is ready to cook for you. Our first responders will provide dinner at the firehouse for 6-8 people. Included is a personalized tour of the firehouse and fire equipment. This is one hot package for the lucky winner and friends!

Value: Priceless

3. A Taste of Spain:

Every year Marge Lorang and John Spinosa donate everything you need to serve a three-course authentic Spanish Paella dinner in your home for you and 19 of your closest friends (including tables, chairs, dishes, linens, etc.). Your guests will enjoy tapas and Spanish wines while watching John prepare the paella on his outdoor propane burner set-up. It's a fun show watching it all come together in one big pan! You choose the recipe: Mixed seafood, chicken and sausage, or vegetarian. Or maybe you want the black rice paella, whose hue comes from squid ink. Marge's velvety flan adds a sweet finish. Start putting together your bidding group now!

Value: $2,000

4. A Taste of the Philippines:

Taste of the Triangle Chair Jemma Samala, and her parents Lita and Elmer Samala (who really are the ones that cook), will donate two dozen lumpia (egg rolls) and pansit (noodles) four times during the following year. There's nothing like mom and dad's homemade Filipino dishes.

Value: $160

5. A Taste of Westfield UTC:

With Mexico as our neighbor to the south, you know San Diego has tasty and authentic Mexican food venues. Sample some of the best at Rubio's with $50 worth of catering, find them at the food court. For delicious seasonal fare, go to the other side of the mall and have dinner and drinks at Seasons 52 ($52). Their selection of flatbreads and shot glass sized desserts are amazing. You can sit in the bar and enjoy the live piano music.

Value: $102

6. A Taste of Tapenade:

The classic French bistro Tapenade, located in the village of La Jolla, is providing the lucky winner a chef's dinner for four. Chef Jean Michel Diot will surely please your group with his French Provencal dishes.

Value: $270

7. A Taste of Nine-Ten:

Venture over into the village and enjoy a fabulous three-course dinner for two at Nine-Ten, located in the Grande Colonial Hotel. Enjoy the romantic views of the sunset.

Value: $120

8. A Taste of Herringbone's:

You and five other guests will definitely feel special with this four-course dinner at Herringbone's. The meal includes sommelier selected wine pairings and is prepared by Executive Chef Nick Stinton. Delicious!

Value: $600

9. A Taste of the Sea:

San Diego's prime oceanfront location provides fresh fare for the seafood lover. The winner gets a bountiful basket from the ocean as they sample two of San Diego's best seafood restaurants: Bay Park Fish Co. ($50), and The Fish Market ($50.).

Value: $100

10. A Taste of Casinos:

Take a break from the slots, grab three of your gambling buddies and fill up your plates at Barona Casino's Seasons Fresh Buffet.

Value: $120

11. A Taste of Italy:

A Taste of Italy: Buon Giorno! Who doesn't love Italian food? Spaghetti and meatballs is comfort food to many, as is pizza to most of our kids. Venture out and sample some of La Jolla's Italian restaurants and show the kids how to expand their taste buds. Go to Café Milano ($25) for lunch one day, then another day dinner at Bernini's ($75). Later at home, try making your own Italian dishes using an assortment of olive oils and balsamic vinegar from Villa Capri.

Value: $125

12. A Taste of the Faculty Club:

Isn't the Ida and Cecil Green Faculty Club a wonderful setting? Come back and enjoy it again with a lunch for two. They've also provided some wine and snacks to whet your appetite.

Value: $125

13. A Taste of Suzie's Farms:

A local farm institution, Suzie's Farms products are found at many restaurants. Pick up your own Good Farm Box CSA at a local farmer's market. You will also get passes for a farm tour at their location in South San Diego County. Local, fresh, organic goodness.

Value: $70

14. A Taste of the UTC Farmer's Market:

Welcome back to the UTC Farmer's Market at Doyle Elementary! Brian Beevers, market manager, shows his gratitude to the community by providing one week's CSA and an assortment of market tastes and treasures.

Value: TBD

15. A Taste of Chocolate:

Michael & Diane Lueke, EdUCate! board member, sure loves their chocolate – but who doesn't? They are sharing their special love of Ghirardelli chocolates by sharing with EdUCate! guests a delectable basket of triple chocolate brownie, an assortment of flavored chocolate squares in a display box, and The Ghirardelli Chocolate Cookbook! Then steal away to a sweet and savory brunch at the Eclipse Chocolate Bar & Bistro. Yummy!

Value: $100

16. A Taste of Cookies:

COOKIES! Michele & Rick Hagstrom's annual donation of Girl Scout cookies is highly sought after. Then keep your cookie habit satisfied all year long as EdUCate! volunteer Shannon Wilson, well known for her baking expertise, will bake for you a batch of treats six times during the year (two dozen cookies or a dessert). You're going to want those recipes!

Value: $165

17. A Taste of Gluten-Free:

The Sustainable Pantry, aka Carina Wheatley, has provided an assortment of gluten-free mixes, call it the “Mix-A-Month” collection. She’s also included a sampler of Whey Low. Goodbye gluten, hello yummy for your tummy!

Value: $100

18. A Taste of Coffee:

UC parent and one of the brothers from Ryan Bros. Coffee of San Diego, Tom Ryan, has donated a basket of liquid gold – coffee, tea, cocoa, accessories, and a $25 gift card, too. Nirvana is just a sip away!

Value: $100

19 A. A Taste of Beer:

EdUCate! is all about educating, right? Well then, two of you can take an educational tour and go bar hopping on a Social Cycle SD public mixer tour. Don’t stop there...continue your tastings at EdUCate!’s Oktoberfest in the fall. Get two VIP passes for UNLIMITED pours at this fall’s Oktoberfest. You can get a preview of the event with an assortment of beers from Oktoberfest brewers and a $25 gift certificate to Coronado Brewing Company. It’s a good thing that you can probably walk home.

Value: $325

19 B. A Taste of the Mission:

Still in the mood for more beer tasting? Ten of you can go on a private brewery tour and tasting at the Mission Brewery in San Diego’s East Village. No need to drive, you all can take the trolley. (Must be age 21+ to taste.)

Value: $150

20. A Taste of Animal Style:

No, this isn’t a pet package (they’re next), but one for the carnivores. You and the family can go to In-N-Out with a basket of four meal certificates, t-shirt, hat and water cup. Then later go to Bull’s BBQ ($50) for some smokin’ delights. When you think you can’t handle any more, Mastiff Sausage Company is challenging you with four meal passes for an entree and a side. But it ain’t over. Head on to Slater’s 50/50 where they are famous for mixing beef and bacon in their burgers ($20).

Value: $185

21. Pet Lover:

Keep your pet happy and healthy with a complete office visit and exam, one annual vaccination, and your choice of one month of flea control or heart-worm prevention from Governor Animal Clinic. With kids and animals running around, it's time to get those carpets cleaned. Do so with Oxi Fresh of San Diego's natural carpet cleaning services, which uses a powerful oxygenated system that leaves no sticky residue and is safe for children and pets. (Good for three rooms and hallway or closet.)

Value: $315

22. You're A Dog's Best Friend:

Your four-legged friend will appreciate your kindness when you take him to the Governor Animal Clinic for a complete office visit and exam, one annual vaccination, and your choice of one month of flea control or heart-worm prevention. With animals and kids running around, it's time to get those carpets cleaned. Do so with Oxi Fresh of San Diego's natural carpet cleaning services, which uses a powerful oxygenated system that leaves no sticky residue and is safe for children and pets. 37. Your Face Needs Some Oxygen:

Revive, replenish and protect your skin with an intraceutical oxygen facial by Deidre Evans Skincare. As seen in Elle and OK magazines, this procedure is also used by Madonna and Robin Thicke. It will hydrate, lift and tighten your skin. Ideal for softening the visible signs of premature aging, fine lines and wrinkles, and the sagging and loss of contour. Ahh, to be young again!

Value: $100

38. Ultimate Facial:

Don't forget to pamper your beautiful face with a facial using Arbonne's botanical anti-aging skincare products. UC parent Ruby Roof and Arbonne consultant also throws in $75 worth of products.

Value: $100

39. Strengthen Your Performance:

Kelly Johnson, UCHS Athletic Trainer, knows what it takes to strengthen and condition your body. She will provide three private personal training sessions that includes: free body measurements and body composition analysis, fitness assessments, nutritional coaching, core stability training, and a complimentary "bring a friend" pass. Either you or your student athlete will gain the benefits. Your student athlete will also receive a free sports physical offered on Wednesday, June 4, anytime from 2:30-5:30, at UCHS, courtesy of the Centurion Foundation to make sure they are ready for play.

Value: $295

40. Get Out of Jail Free:

San Diego County Sheriff Bill Gore's version of a kinder, gentler scared straight program, four "guests" will take an informative tour of the San Diego Central Jail. Then join Sheriff Gore for a hosted lunch...now, not sure if that is in the jail cafeteria or not...hmm...but you get to leave the jail once it's over! (Must be 18 and over.)

Value: Priceless

72. Revolutionize Your Landscape:

Get a professionally created conceptual landscape design based on an onsite visit and consultation from Revolution Landscape: Sustainable Landscaping & Edible Garden Professionals, started by UCHS alums Jeff Robbins and Ariel Tenenbaum. Designs are created with an emphasis on eco-friendly landscaping. The concept design is a professionally drafted plan that is customized to the client's functional needs and aesthetics, as well as the unique environmental situation and microclimate of the landscape. This takes the guesswork out of trying to choose plants that will work for a location as well as help create a cohesive master plan for a landscape. The bidder will receive an onsite consultation and landscape concept plan. The value of this cannot be applied towards any actual landscaping work. As a part of the design, they will provide installation estimates, but clients can also choose to have other contractors perform the installation based on the concept plan they create, or they can use the plans to install it themselves.

Value: $1500
