Grant Evaluation Criteria

The EdUCate! Teacher Grant process is intended for items valued at $200 or more.

The more information provided, the more accurately EdUCate! can evaluate and understand your needs; therefore, we encourage additional documentation such as price quotes and attach explanations and pictures!

As you think about your idea or project, keep in mind the following criteria with which we will evaluate your proposal:

Number of students impacted: A grant affecting 10 students would not rate as highly as one affecting 100.

Degree of impact on the students: The educational value and improvement offered over already available resources.

Longevity of the project: Workbooks that last just one year would not rate as highly as materials that could be used over 5-10 years.

Practicality: Measures whether the project is realistic and 'do-able', or likely to suffer from problems like lack of training, difficulty of coordination, etc.

Cost effectiveness: The cost per pupil or the "bang for the buck."

Innovation: Is your proposal a new or creative solution to a common problem? Are you thinking "outside of the box"?

Collaboration: The degree to which the grant involves or promotes collaboration and cooperation among different classes, grades, or schools.

Academic/Social/Emotional Impact: Will this provide education that supports the whole student academically, socially and emotionally?

At this time, field trips are not funded using Teacher Grants

MUST PURCHASE MATERIALS/ SERVICES WITHIN 60 DAYS OF GRANT NOTIFICATION!

If you receive the grant, we also require that you provide the following feedback:

(i)   What was the problem/For what reason did you need the teacher/principal grant item(s)?
(ii)   How does the granted item(s) solve the problem
(iii) Quotation from the teacher/principal that EdUCate can use for marketing purposes
(iv)   Photo: a photo of the item or teacher, classroom, etc.

If you have any questions about the application or grant process, visit www.uc-educate.org or contact Holly Doolittle, Chairperson, at grants@uc-educate.org.
